

Wagga Wagga City Council is not behind the 'giant crow'

A member of the public has developed a concept for a giant crow, advocating that it be a 'big thing' in Wagga Wagga.

Recent media coverage of the giant crow concept has caused some community members to think it is a Council idea or project.

Wagga City Council does not have any connection to the giant crow idea, although Council staff have met with Mr Brunskill who has put the idea forward. This meeting was at his request.

Council would like to assure the community that it has not expended any funds on the concept nor is it a project that is being undertaken by Council.
